What did I want in life:

- a six-figure career
- the ability to be loving and affectionate towards my kids
- to feel comfortable in my skin
- to retire by age sixty
- to have healthy relationship with a partner
- stop feeling like a loser
- stop dysfunctional coping habits
- weight of guilt and shame lessened
- stop feeling less than masculine and uncreative
- stop people-pleasing

My initial interaction with Coach T was a bit unsettling. It freaked me out. It felt different than my therapist. It felt like he was either reading my mind or had lived my story.

I didn't know how I was going to afford the coaching, but I knew within that I not only needed Coach T, but I knew he could help me get the results and ROI.

I divided the price of the program and asked twenty friends for a loan, go-fund-me. I had to be vulnerable and share with them, not all the details, but that I needed help to be a better person, to not be held back by my past hurts and pains. They understood.

"It's been 90 days. I now realize this is not just about the abuse per se, but all the dysfunction, bad habits and outlooks created. I've been oblivious. Today, I got a promotion. I know for a fact it's due to the coaching and hypnosis. My GM says he's noticed a shift and change in me. I know it's the Manifesting part of Thomas' coaching and hypnosis. The porn urges have diminished substantially. A year investment that's actually producing results already that I want. This is freakin awesome and my wife agrees. Who knows what the next 9 months will produce." -

" I wanted to share my voice. I recently started the program. What led me here was my wife and family. More of an ultimatum! One of my survivor issues revolved around dysfunctional coping mechanisms for dealing with the sexual abuse. Pornography! In traditional therapy we didn't address the remaining issues. . Coach T use of integrative tools and strategies, and learning how to "wrench" a habit, I'm starting to overcome, day 47 porn-free. I'm learning about abuse, brain trauma, and sexual abuse that's making this battle easier. It's just different when the person working with you has experienced sexual abuse also, plus had to overcome survivor issues and dysfunctions also

I was 44 years old. We worked together for two years. Traveling between states for in-person coaching and hypnosis sessions. He's kick-ass dedicated when you allow him the space to do what he does best, coach, support, and care while holding you accountable to your goals.

Today I'm retired at 50 years old. Not a loser. Paid back my loan investment to my friends with 200%, because no longer was finance an issue. Enjoying my life, being comfortable in my skin, enjoying time with my kids that I got back, and no longer feeling inferior or different.

The significant difference for me was the entirety of the coaching. We didn't just work through the past childhood sexual abuse narrative but he coached present day issues. The bonus for me was having a coach who used to work in corporate (Amazon, Microsoft). He had knowledge to coach me to build my own successful business, seven-figures.
